

Dear Students,

Welcome back to school!

I hope you had a refreshing and enjoyable break, filled with moments that made you smile and recharge. As we begin this new academic year together, I want you to know that each of you brings something unique and valuable to our classroom.

This year is a new opportunity—a chance to learn new things, ask questions, make mistakes, and grow stronger because of them. Don't be afraid to challenge yourself or step outside your comfort zone. That's where real learning happens.

Remember, success isn't just about grades. It's about effort, curiosity, kindness, and perseverance. Support one another, celebrate each other's achievements, and always try your best—even when things feel difficult.

I am excited to guide you, learn with you, and watch you succeed. Let's make this year meaningful, productive, and full of positive experiences.

Welcome back, and let's get started!

Warm regards,
{VAIDAVI SAWANT }
